Subject: Applicant Interview on 16 August 2000 on Patent Application 09/087,574 (Harrington et al.):

Mr. Farris explained the issues necessitating this meeting, connected with the subject application as concerned prior art, as he saw them. He stated that there were discrepancies between publicized claims and statements of BiDCOMP/PARITY and the disclosures by users and/or others; these discrepancies pertained to the capabilities of BiDCOMP/PARITY and the timeframe that BiDCOMP/PARITY had certain attributes.

In an article in Government Finance Review, dated February 2000, the time scale of the development of the MuniAuction System (the invention of Harrington et al.) is described. The MuniAuction System debuted in late 1997, according to the article. Two new bid submission systems (Thomson Financial Group's BiDCOMP/PARITY and Bloomberg Deal-o-matic) followed in 1998.

Harrington et al. has a filing date of May 29, 1998, and a priority date of May 29, 1997.

Mr. Farris et al. stated that they will submit an amendment this week that clarifies their invention and specifically claims its features which are unique over prior art. The response will address the conflicting information concerning BiDCOMP/PARITY features and that the overwhelming balance of the evidence points toward BiDCOMP/PARITY not having the claimed features before the priority date of applicants.
